Will Durant has claimed, that education is a progressive discovery of our own ignorance. He is a great historian, and I think, that the phrase has a deep sense.

For me, it is very difficult to form an opinion. I suppose that education for most people is really a discovery of their ignorance. But I believe, it is not for everybody. If ignorance is self-confident and people study only for themselves, there will not be new discoveries and developments. But discoveries happen, and it is thanks to messengers. Only these persons are working for the world. Because another people are working on researches only for their own benefit.

106 Also the historian is right, because all studies we have were created about and for a human. And the main aim of all sciences is not about to save our planet and develop it, but to save only people and to take care only about people.

In conclusion I want to say that I fully agree with Will Durant, but it is too sad. And I want to believe in bright future, where people take care about others, our nature, our world.
