Someone asked me: "What is better: long summer or terms be longer?" Well... Of course, having a long term is better for learning. Asian countries have the longest term, so they have the highest level of learning, but students can be tired of study and lose concentration. Some students need more time to learning, but they also can study and prepare for exams on holiday <sup>so</sup> it's not a big problem. To my mind, three-month holiday is the best way, I think, my classmates <sup>SP</sup> would agree with me. <sup>log</sup>

Besides, on holiday students can find a new <sup>SP</sup> hobby, or just relax, so it's important to have enough time for it. As for me, painting is the best leisure activity on holiday. Sometimes, I think I can paint all day long. It's so relaxing. My friend prefer sport activities. Next summer I want to try something new, like swimming. Some part of teenagers go to summer camps, where they can find new friend, or try a new hobby. Also, on <sup>gr</sup> <sup>lex</sup> st <sup>SP</sup> ~~the~~ holiday teens can get a half-part job, and have new experience.

Moreover, on holidays students can think about their future profession and life purposes. <sup>SP</sup> <sup>SP</sup> <sup>gr</sup> In my opinion, it one of the most part of <sup>gr</sup> growing in teens life.
